Bodies of America Bodies of America was an English museum exhibit based on the bodies of remains of non-Jewish victims of the Holocaust. On display, they were buried in mass graves in Siberia and in the Katyn Forest in Russia. The exhibit used real bodies and last rest sites were identical to those of their victim, e.g. John T. Carr from the camp of Natzweiler-Struthof, France. Exhibitions The exhibition toured the world through 2009.
